ARTOTYPE!

J. A. WILLIAMS, the original, is ready to take and fill orders for this style of pictures at his room, No. 1 Touro block, Bellevue avenue, Newport, R. I. The Artotype process is good enough to satisfy the most exacting and will for this reason receive opposition from none but those who will have lost all opportunity to benefit by its immense advantage. The Artotypes are far superior to Silver Prints or old style Photo made from the same negative with the additional merit of being as permanent as a steel engraving. Artotype is a name given by the proprietor of a patent for printing by means of a process in fatty inks and in colored inks. The price of photo in silver I will take for about one half of the old process or less than any other Photographer charges for the same style of work, J. A. W. a9

PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State St., opp. Kilby St., Boston,

Secures patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions. R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents.

Testimonials.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.

CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the patent office.

EDMUND BURKE, late Commissioner of Patents."

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you. Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

From Washington.

Business in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Senator Blaine presented a woman suffrage petition from the citizens of Dunham, Me., Senators Carpenter and Conkling criticised a resolution passed yesterday authorizing the Secretary of war to loan the centennial celebration at Nashville ten large American flags on such security as the officers of the celebration may prescribe. Senator Dawes protested against a resolution providing for the location of a tribe of Indians on the old reservation of the Poncas.

WESTERN ELECTIONS.

Republican Majorities at the West.—The Indiana Constitutional Amendments Adopted.

CINCINNATI, April 7.—Unofficial footings give Eshelby, the Republican candidate for City Comptroller, a majority of 3,800, and elect the entire Republican Board of Education, with majorities of from 200 to 5,000.

In Indiana all the constitutional amendments were carried. This will make the state election come in November.

SPRINGFIELD, April 7.—The city election yesterday resulted in the election of Irwin (Rep.) for mayor, by a majority of 350, and of the Republican candidates for clerk, attorney and supervisor, and probably treasurer and marshal.

GREAT NECK, L. I., April 7.—J. M. Clark, Republican, was elected supervisor of the town of North Hempstead yesterday, and Selah Brush, Democrat, justice of peace.

MINEOLA, L. I., April 7.—Charles E. Clement (Rep) was re-elected supervisor of the town of Hempstead yesterday. George W. Downing (Dem.) was elected to the same office in the town of Oysterbay. He has held it upwards of thirty years.

THE RIVER AND HARBOR BILL.

Liberal Appropriations for New England.—The Reported Cuban Expedition.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The Sub-Committee of Commerce of the House, today, submitted their report on the river and harbor bill to the full committee, and it will be considered from day to day until disposed of. The aggregate amount is a little over five million dollars, and Chairman Reagan says he hopes to keep it at about that figure. They decided not to give out any of the items until the bill has been agreed upon by the committee. The appropriations for New England are very liberal, Representative Russell having taken excellent care of that section.

From information received at the Department of State, Secretary Evarts does not believe that there is anything in the stories of a contemplated expedition to Cuba. He has, however, at the request of the Spanish minister, directed the federal officials at Newport, New York and other points to keep a vigilant watch on all suspected, and notify the Government respecting them.

Temperance.—Enforcing Prohibition at Bordentown.

BORDENTOWN, N. J., April 7.—All the hotels and beer saloons of this city were tightly closed yesterday for an indefinite period in consequence of the Common Council refusing to grant any licenses. The charter election will take place next Monday; and, as an entirely new counsel will then be chosen, the greatest interest is felt in the result. Bordentown has been a chartered city for thirty-one years, and this is the first time in its history that its public houses have been closed.

The West Point Outrage.—Who Perpetrated it?

GARRISON'S, N. Y., April 7.—General Schofield says today that although some of the evidence indicates that Cadet Whittaker committed the outrage on himself, the opinion thus held is mere conjecture. He says that the fact that no member of the corps of cadets committed the crime has been fully demonstrated. The result of the investigation has not yet been made known.

Destructive Hurricane.

MONTGOMERY, N. Y., April 7.—A hurricane which passed over this village at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon carried away the steeple of the American Reformed Church, demolished a part of the new sheds, piling the timbers and framework on the top of other buildings, and levelled large trees. Considerable hail, with thunder and lightning, accompanied the storm.

OLD-FASHIONED DANCES.

The minuet was the great dance of the eighteenth century. It had both grace and gallantry. The initial and terminating bows have been immortalized by Burke in a passage in which he speaks of "that generous loyalty to rank and sex, that proud submission, that dignified obedience." The minuet was the real test of gracefulness. All balls begin with it, and it was such a universal study that the very sentiment of it, it has been declared, inspired the nation and gave something of the tone which characterized society in that age. Or take the country dances—the cushion dance, for instance; who ever hears of the cushion dance now? Yet there must be some old people who remember the figures and the steps—the exchange between the top and bottom couples—the throwing down the cushion as an excuse for a kiss—the flight and pursuit and the joyous action of the whole of the dancers. These dances dwell in the memory of the old—a fast-vanishing race—and make their youth a happy time to recall. Will our waltzes and galops do as much for us? Should you be spared into old age, what impressions shall you preserve of the dances you have danced in your youth? Where be the old heartiness, the merry, spontaneous laugh, the admirable decorum, the calm grace, the keen enjoyment? Alack! the cushion dance has become the dance of death. When we grow old we shall have to angle for bright recollections of our youth in other wells than where our ball room experiences lie sunk. Perhaps the only old-fashioned dance that survives is the cotillon. This dance is full of Spanish grace. In South America they introduce some odd tricks into their dancing. Ladies fill egg shells with eau de cologne and carry them to the ball; there they break them upon the heads of the gentlemen. It is meant as a challenge. The gentleman who receives this moist tribute is bound in gallantry to find out the lady and return the compliment. Another trick is for a young man to go behind a girl, place his sombrero directly over her head, letting it fall over her eyes, and then to spring back among the dancers; if the girl throws off the hat it means that the girl can dispense with any attention the gentleman would like to pay her, and he is obliged to pick up his hat amid a general laugh. If the hat is retained, then at the end of the dance the owner claims it from the lady, and with it her hand for the rest of the evening. The cotillon is clearly based on fancies of this kind. The introduction of the chair, the seating of a lady, the presentation of the gentlemen, the blindfolding of a gentleman, with a lady on either side of him, and his hazardous choice of one of them as a partner, are distinctly Southern elements, giving graceful life and laughter to the waltzing accompaniment. This survives but the other dances are ended. Whether they are worth reviving is a question for girls to decide. At all events, one may believe that a girl could never look more picturesque than when engaged in one of these old-fashioned dances, just as it is certain that a girl is never seen to worse advantage than when she has released herself from the grip of a man after a long, panting and perspiring waltz as this dance is now performed.

PERSONALS.

......Mrs. Langtry's chief charm is said to be in her soft, timid eyes, to which no picture can do justice.

......Prof. Wheeler of Yale College will be the referee in the Harvard-Yale boat race at New London.

......Charles A. Dana of the New York Sun has recovered $10,358 as back salary from the former stockholders of the Chicago Republican.

......Miss Emma Thursby has refused all engagements for the week preceding the May festival, in order to go to Boston to study with Mme. Rudersdorff.

......Hon. John Welsh of Philadelphia, late United States Minister to Great Britain, has accepted the office of Honorary Chancellor of Union College, Schenectady, New York.

......The Empress of Russia is 56 years old, was married at the age of 17, and is the mother of seven children—six sons and one daughter—the last being the Duchess of Edinburgh.

......Prince Pierre Bonaparte, the cousin of Napoleon III., who married a seamstress, is in very reduced circumstances and living in the most humble manner at Versailles on a small pittance from Prince Jerome.

......Henri Wieniawski, whose death at Moscow is announced by cable, was born at Lublin, Poland, July 10, 1835. He entered the Conservatory of Paris as a pupil in 1843, and received instruction on the violin from Clavel and Massart, and took lessons in harmony from Colet. He gave his first concert in Europe in 1852, and subsequently visited most of the great cities of Europe. He came to New York in the fall of 1872 with Rubinstein, and made his first appearance at Steinway hall, on Sept. 23. His rank among violinists was universally recognized, and but two other artists in the world, Joachim and Wilhelmj, could claim professional equality with him.

UNITED IN LIFE AND IN DEATH.

The death of Robert H. McCurdy and Herman Aldrich yesterday, of the same disease, was but the last of a lifelong series of coincidences in their careers. Born in contiguous states, beginning in New York at about the same age under the same employer, bedfellows as clerks and subsequently partners in a firm which for thirty years was the most conspicuous dry goods commission house in America, the unity of their lives was not broken in death, and tomorrow their bodies will be laid to rest in Greenwood almost side by side. The unbroken friendship which existed between the two evinces qualities of unusual excellence of character in each.

Mr. McCurdy's memory will be fragrant of good, not only from the sturdy integrity with which he prosecuted his extensive business enterprises, and the benevolence which opened his purse for the relief of the unfortunate, but also from the ardent patriotism which he exhibited in the crisis of the nation's life. It should never be forgotten that it was at his house in Fourteenth street that a rally of merchants took place in 1861, while the guns of Sumter were firing, and that the marvellous meeting which followed in Union Square—that great demonstration of the patriotism of the business men of our city—was the result of the invitations from his pen which had effected the gathering of distinguished merchants at his house. A national tribute of respect is due to the memory of this patriot, and New York cannot wisely permit the lives of such men as Messrs. McCurdy and Aldrich have been to come to an end without pausing to consider the virtues by which they were animated, and which made their characters resplendent with light.—[N. Y. Evening Mail, 6th.

OBITUARY.

DANIEL PARISH.

Mr. Daniel Parish died yesterday morning at his residence on the corner of Sixteenth street and Fifth avenue, New York in the eighty-fourth year of his age. He was born near Albany, at Coxsackie, where his father, Jacob Parish—a member of the Society of Friends—was a forwarding merchant. Jacob Parish married Miss Powell, a sister of the late Thomas Powell, a forwarding merchant, of Newburg. The family history became widely known about twenty-five year ago, in consequence of the celebrated contest upon the will of Henry Parish, the brother of the deceased Daniel Parish. Daniel Parish was very active in maintaining that contest, which enlisted the professional services of the late Daniel Lord, the late Ogden Hoffman, the late Francis B. Cutting, the late Robert J. Dillon and of Charles O'Conor and William M. Evarts. Jacob Parish, of Coxsackie, had four other children besides Daniel and Henry. These were named James, who became blind and lived in retirement many years at Poughkeepsie; Thomas, who died in 1840, one year before his venerable father's death; Martha, who married Allen N. Sherman, and Ann, who never married. The sisters were well-known residents of Newburg. Henry Parish was the founder of the dry-goods houses—in all of which his brothers, Daniel and Thomas Parish, eventually obtained interests—of Parish, Holbrook & Co, Mr. Joseph Kernochan constituting the company; of its branch, Butler, Melvin & Co., in Charleston—which Daniel Parish directed—which soon became Parish, Corning & Co.; of Kernochan, Parish & Co., in this city; of its successor firm, Parish, Marshall & Co.; of a New Orleans branch styled Garquet, Parish & Co., H. & D. Parish and Leroy M. Wiley & Co. Daniel Parish did not remain long in Charleston, but returned to New York, and although Henry Parish founded what sixty, fifty, and even forty years ago—when the Parishes quit active commercial pursuits—was the largest dry-goods business in America, Daniel Parish acquired the reputation of being the executive head and principal promoter of that business. No merchant was better known in New York City than Daniel Parish from 1816 to 1838, when he practically retired. His residences at No. 12 Beekman and No. 49 Barclay streets were as noted for hospitalities and social enjoyments as subsequently became the house in which after a residence of forty years he died. Between Daniel and his brother Henry there had always been the deepest affection, and when Henry died and left a will substantially ignoring his brother, Daniel Parish said that he owed it to his brother's memory and to his own self-respect to try and establish as he did finally establish, according to the published decrees of the courts—that the will was made while his brother was under paralysis and subjected to the undue mental influence of Mrs. Henry Parish and her family. Mr. Daniel Parish became, by the marriage of his own collateral branches and of his children and nephews and nieces, connected with a large family circle in this city. While he was best known for his mercantile integrity and social courtesy to a generation that has substantially departed, the generation which will be represented at his funeral tomorrow willl not be likely to forget the unostentatious charities of his declining years.—[The World.

A PARABLE.

Geroy, an old man of eighty, was one day sitting at the door of his rural dwelling, when a youth from town came to him and entered into conversation. When he heard the number of the aged man's years, he marveled at the healthy appearance before him, and asked Geroy what he had done to enjoy such strength and serenity in the winter of his life. He answered:

"My son, this is like every good gift, from above. Yet we must do something here to obtain it."

Then the old man rose, took the stranger to the orchard, and showed him the splendid trees laden with delicious fruit. He then said:

"Dost thou marvel that I now enjoy the fruit of these trees? Behold, my son, I planted them in my youth. Here thou hast the mystery of my quiet, fruitful old age."

The youth bowed his head, for he understood the old man's words, and pondered them in his heart.

A mean story is told of an eminent Viennese painter. Among the freaks of the recent carnival was the adoption by ladies of imitation feet and sandals as accessories to classical costumes. Skilled artists were resorted to, who painted upon tightly drawn flesh-colored stockings counterfeit presentments of toes, sandals and laces, all complete. The wife of the painter aforesaid importuned her husband to do the same by her feet, and, being of a jealous disposition, he resolved to teach her a lesson. When, therefore, her carriage was at the door he hastily seized brushes and pallette, and hurried his wife away without giving her an opportunity to inspect his work. When she reached the brilliantly lighted ball-room she glanced at her spouse's artistic achievements, and, to her horror, perceived upon the pink tights admirable imitations of chillblains, bunions and inveterate corns. That night she danced not, but sat sadly in a corner, hiding her feet under her chair.

A LARGE STRAW.

A political straw of very respectable dimensions is found in the municipal election which occurred in Hartford on Monday.

For years Hartford has been a Democratic city by majorities varying from 500 to 1200. Last November the Republicans succeeded in electing representatives by slender majorities. Now, after a sharp and vigorous canvass, they elect a mayor by 1369 majority, all the officers on their general ticket by majorities ranging from 178 to 736, five aldermen out of eight and twenty-one of the thirty-two councilmen.

This election indicates in no uncertain manner the direction in which the political tide is setting in Connecticut. It is an auspicious omen and will tend greatly to encourage the Republicans of the state as they are about to enter upon the national canvass.—[New London Telegram.

Newport Daily News, and the Newport Journal.

The Newport Daily News is published every afternoon (Sundays excepted), at the News building, 137 Thames street, by Davis & Pitman.

The Newport Journal is published at the same office every Saturday morning and contains a selection of the best matter in the Daily, including editorial discussions of the topics of the week, literary miscellanies and at least one good story, the latest markets and a complete and comprehensive summary of the news,—local and general. The Journal is a large 32 column paper and contains a large amount of reading matter that is valuable to readers in town or country who desire a good Newport paper, but who do not take a daily from this city.

Complaints regarding the irregular or improper delivery of either paper should be sent to the office at once.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

The Daily News, $6 per annum, or 12 cents a week, payable to carrier.

The Newport Journal will be sent to any address in the United States, postage paid, for $2 a year. A discount of 50 cents is made when the WHOLE YEAR is paid STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

These terms are invariable.

ADVERTISING RATES.

Ordinary advertisements, $1 a square, for the first insertion, and 25 cents for each continuance. Ten lines, or less, in this type, make a square. Advertisements in reading matter, are charged for, at 50 per cent, extra and are subject to editorial revision. A discount on these rates is allowed on all advertisements ordered in the Daily for one week or longer. Funeral notices 50 cents each. Yearly advertisers are limited to their immediate business and are allowed twenty-five changes a year. The circulations of the News and Journal being necessarily distinct, an advertisement inserted in both papers will reach entirely different sets of readers. As further inducement for advertisers to use both the News and Journal, a liberal discount on the combined rates is made.

PRINTING.

Connected with the News is a large and well appointed job printing office. All orders for work in this department will be promptly filled, and at reasonable prices. The patronage of the public is respectfully solicited.

The job office has recently been supplied with new type and a new press, especially adapted to fine work. Liberal supplies of choice papers, envelopes and cards, always on hand. Prices as low as possible for first class work.

THURSDAY, APRIL 8, 1880.

Mr. Tilden ought to be satisfied. His niece is to be Queen of May up at Yonkers, and one royal member is enough for an American family.

The New York Herald's Irish relief fund reached $320,711.27, which is about twice as much as the great collections in 1847 by the Irish relief committee of New York, which was an official and general affair.

Says the New York Mail: Sixty-six Republicans in the House voted, practically, against any reform of our absurd, incongruous, inconsistent and jumbled mess of a tariff. They made an ugly record for their party and for themselves.

It was remarked yesterday that a certain representative of "the machine" in this city was using money pretty freely. The Providence Press says that $600 was sent down here from Providence for the enlightenment of our citizens. Was that so?

Between 1866 and 1875 according to a witness between Voorhees's exodus committee who testified on Saturday, 2151 black men were killed and 2115 wounded in Louisiana for political reasons. Now that story is a big lie or the whites of the South are savages of the worst character.

Hon. L. P. Morton was the only Eastern Republican who voted for tariff reform. Thirteen others were found on the right side but they were all from the West. As Mr. Morton, who is one of our summer people, represents Newport as well as New York we congratulate him on having the "courage of his opinions."

The Providence Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church met yesterday as announced. In the absence of the Bishop who had not arrived the Rev. Frederick Upham, D. D., was elected president pro tem. The Rev. Dr. Talbot, formerly of this city, was chosen secretary for the twenty-first term, and Rev. W. F. Whitcher first assistant. There is a large attendance.

From 75 cents worth of iron ore may be made, it is said, $5 50 worth of bar iron, $10 worth of horseshoes, $180 worth of table knives, $6800 worth of fine needles, $29,480 worth of shirt buttons, $200,000 worth of watch springs, $400,000 worth of hair springs, or $2,500,000 worth of pallet arbors (used in watches.) We will take our ore made up into pallet arbors and let somebody else have the horseshoes.

The California Congressmen are so disgruntled over the nomination of President Angell as United States Minister to China and Messrs. Swift and Trescott as commissioners to accompany him, that they threaten to try and prevent the appropriation of any money for their support. Mr. Swift is a Californian, but the Congressmen say that he is not all in accord with the Chinese-must-go sentiment on the Pacific coast.

Mr. Parnell said in his speech at Cork, on his return from this country, that he was the only foreigner who had ever been allowed to address the House of Representatives. This was very well said but Mr. Parnell should not take great pride in the fact. He was not invited out of respect for himself but through the influence of certain demagogues who think the Irishmen of America are fools enough to be bought up in the political market by such a trick. Our Irish fellow citizens ought to avenge the insult by voting against the party that forms so poor an estimate of their intelligence and independence. Sunset Cox and his associates would attempt no such game with the Germans, Frenchmen, or other foreigners. The Irishmen should resent the attempt to catch and hold their votes by such a flimsy pretense as that of the Washington politicians.

Municipal authorities will be interested to know that what has long been a mooted question is in a fair way of legal settlement. Many persons have inquired whether large towns and cities, which have failed to afford their residents proper protection against fire, may not be held responsible for a portion of the losses so incurred, and now it is about to be brought before the courts for a decision. Mr. Henry Sheets, a well-known hotel keeper of Indianapolis, Ind., had his hotel partially destroyed by fire in 1874, which he claims could have been easily extinguished had the facilities been afforded by the authorities. He has now brought suit against the city for $150,000 for losses, as he claims, caused by the inefficiency of the Fire Department and the failure of the water supply. The result of this suit will will be anxiously looked for by both the fire underwriters and the inhabitants of other small places which have been similarly neglected.

The negro exodus has not been exaggerated. The manager of the "Colored Relief Association," at St. Louis, testifies before the Senate Committee that over 20,000 emigrants had passed through the hands of the association at St. Louis and he thought that altogether, by the aid of different associations, fully 25,000 had located in Kansas from the South. At present he thought the movement was, if anything, on the increase. These are facts that cannot be explained away, and it is evident that the exodus must go on. And it is said there is a reason for everything.

The cost of living in Germany has advanced at a very rapid rate during the past ten years. An instance of this is found in the average expenses of the young men who attend the courses of lectures at the Heidelberg University, for their number is so large and their condition so varied that they form a fair index of the nation. In 1871 the average yearly expenses of these students were but a trifle over one hundred and fifty dollars, while in 1878 the average had increased to more than three hundred and forty dollars, that is, it had doubled in seven years, and, during the interval, the gain has been an almost constantly ascending one. If these are the fruits of the French war, the triumph was a terribly costly one.

In speaking of political management the New York Herald says that as a rule not one member of the party in five, and very often not one in ten, attends the local caucuses. While politicians leave no stone unturned to bring out a full vote in the elections, they prefer that the mass of electors stay away from the caucuses in order that their skillful packing of the nominating body be not obstructed. Caucus packing and convention packing are in both parties the supreme art of American politics. That is a very fair representation of the facts. When fair minded people stay away from the caucus, the low politicians have everything their own way. When the people come to the front, as they did in the late Republican caucus, the machine usually gets badly smashed. It is time it was ground to powder.

THE STATE ELECTION.

The election yesterday passed off very quietly. Though the contest in many towns was unusually sharp there was a general good feeling among the intelligent voters of the state. Nobody but a bigot or an ignoramus ever gets angry over politics. It is the genius of a free people to enter into the contest with spirit, fight sharply to the end, and submit to the result with good grace.

The result yesterday affords several important lessons. Let us consider a few facts. Hon. J. M. Addeman and other Republican candidates who have the full party vote come out of the contest with about 8000 majority. Mr. Littlefield, the head of the ticket lacks 2238 of having a majority at all. This result is reached while the fact remains that Mr. Littlefield, personally, is just as acceptable to the Republican voters of Rhode Island as Mr. Addeman or General Treasurer Clark. The verdict is a rebuke to the party management, and is not intended as a declaration of want of faith in Mr. Littlefield or Mr. Fay. Many of the best and truest Republicans in the state have taken this method of objecting to party control on the part of a few leading managers in and around Providence. And if this lesson is not heeded it will be repeated again and again. There are not a few who propose to be no longer included in the tail of any man's political kite. They must hereafter rule the party, and not the party the people.

The friends of H. H. Fay will be pleased to see that he polls a larger vote than his chief and that, especially in his own town, he received under the circumstances a warm support. As a whole, machine politics have received a black eye. In this city the professionals are rooted, "horse, foot and dragoons." Peace to their memory.

The result is not to the discredit of the Republican party. That party is stronger in Rhode Island than ever before. Mr. Littlefield and Mr. Fay will be elected by the General Assembly without even a show of contest. The people have simply reminded the trading politicians that when they sell nominations they are not sure of being able to deliver the goods. Had Mr. Littlefield and Mr. Fay been nominated at the convention, rather than in some corner months before the convention met, they would have been elected by a full party vote.

POLITICAL FRAUDS.

To the Editor of the Daily News:

The Republicans of Newport having elected their ticket for Senator and Representatives, which was nominated in a caucus of the largest number of our citizens that have ever assembled for that purpose, it seems but proper to call attention to the tricks of certain parties, who call themselves Republicans, in their attempts to defeat the ticket. This is not so much however to hold them up to contempt as to guard against a recurrence of those attempts to defeat the popular will in the city election, now so near at hand.

By transposing the name of Wm. E. Crandall, who was nominated for fifth Representative, to the position of second Representative and Clark H. Burdick from second to fifth, it is plainly seen a trick to defeat those two candidates was made and was defeated only by the greatest care being taken to call to it the attention of voters. We think it will be conceded that it would be just as honorable to take the tickets from the ballot box and destroy them, as by such a trick to inveigle a voter into depositing a ballot that defeats the very thing that he favors.

In calling the attention of voters to this element, which seeks to run the politics at this end of the state, under cover of an honorable party name, and failing in that baits at no means to gain personal ends, is our sole object. It is to be hoped that their "machine" is now "busted" and the slate broken. If these political harpies will now gracefully retire to the oblivion they deserve so well, and to which they are consigned to, they will please a

A REMARKABLE FUNERAL.

The late Robert H. McCurdy and the late Herman D. Aldrich, who were nearly of the same age, who were intimate friends and connected in business together throughout the greater part of their lives, and who died within a few hours of each other, were buried together yesterday in New York. The double funeral took place in Calvary Church at Fourth avenue and Twenty-first street. The large interior of the church was filled completely with a most remarkable assemblage of New York citizens. The blocks of pews were filled with white-haired venerable men. Probably there were more old New York gentlemen present than ever before attended a funeral in this city. There was also present a very large representation of younger folk from the first social circles of the city. The pall-bearers, who wore bands of white and black crape, were: Senator Frelinghuysen, Judge Henry F. Davies, Samuel D. Babcock, Oliver Harriman, James O. Atwater, George F. Hope, George S. Coe, Austin Dall, William P. Idding, Frederick S. Winston, William E. Dodge, Charles Butler, William W. Wright, Thomas J. Buckley, Samuel Keyser, M. B. Edson and Charles Collins.—[Post.

In old times a strange custom of marrying under the gallows to save life prevailed. If a man or woman would consent to marry under the gallows the person condemned to death, the criminal might thereby be saved from execution.

THE CHANNING CELEBRATION.

CONTINUING THE EXERCISES.—THE COLLATION.—THE LAYING OF THE CORNER STONE.—IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES.—ADDRESS AT THE OPERA HOUSE BY REV. W. H. CHANNING.—THE EVENING'S EXERCISES AT THE OPERA HOUSE.—GOV. VAN ZANDT PRESIDES.—PROMINENT SPEAKERS.

After the exercises at the Opera House yesterday morning a report of which appeared in yesterday's paper, the guests were sumptuously entertained at the Hotel Aquidneck.

THE COLLATION.

Nearly 500 plates were set, and over 1,200 persons were fed. This part of the program was a mammoth affair. A few of the many reasons why the committee on collation were enabled to carry out their work to the satisfaction of the visiting guests and the approval of those by whom they were appointed are as follows: In the first place the committee consisted of ten ladies with Mrs. Henry C. Stevens as chairman. The names of the other ladies were, Mrs. Alfred Smith, Mrs. Anthony Stuart, Senior, Mrs. William Hodges, Mrs. John Burdick, Mrs. C. T. Hopkins, Mrs. W. B. Sherman, Miss Amanda Green, Mrs. A. J. Ward and Mrs. Moses Barlow and this committee invited to their aid Messrs. John G. Weaver, senior, Ex-Mayor Slocum, and William C. Greene, who is worth half a dozen ordinary men for such an occasion as this. This committee was appointed some three weeks ago and the first thought that claimed the attention of its members was the procuring of a place where they would be able to prepare and feed the large numbers that they expected, and after looking about they came to the conclusion that the Hotel Aquidneck was the best place for their wants, not only for its many needed conveniences and large amount of room, but for its nearness to the spot where the corner stone was to be laid. Mr. Rider, the proprietor of the house, not only offered the free use of his house and all connected with it, but from first to last did everything that lay in his power to assist the committee in their work. Mr. A. J. Bullett had charge of the tea, coffee and sandwiches. Mr. George Hazard, an expert, performed the duties of carving and a bevy of obliging young ladies kindly waited on the tables. One of the largest tables of the hall was exclusively furnished by ex-Mayor Slocum for the use of the clergymen. It fairly groaned under its weight of good things and attracted great attention. A finer table has never been spread in Newport and to Mr. Slocum is great credit due. There was an abundance of eatables left and all who wended their way to the hotel were kindly and hospitably entertained and it is no exaggeration to say that our Unitarian friends on this occasion outdid everything of the kind ever seen in Newport.

AFTERNOON EXERCISES.

The exercises consisted of the proper laying of the corner stone. A large gathering assembled in and about Touro Park and for an hour or more waited amid the cold wind and clouds of dust for the exercises to commence. It is not strange that there was some delay. The corner stone was examined by several thousand persons before it was placed in position. At the commencement of the exercises Rev. Mr. Schermerhorn announced that owing to the blustering weather the corner stone sermon would be delivered at the Opera House instead of in the open air immediately after the laying of the stone. An eloquent prayer was offered by the Rev. John C. Kimball formerly of this city. Rev. Mr. Schermerhorn announced to the surprise of the vast assembly, that the minimum of the amount necessary to build the Channing memorial church, $50,000, had been raised, a telegram having been received from a Brooklyn gentleman to the effect that the remaining $2,000 had been subscribed. He was happy to state that the church now to be erected to the memory of William Ellery Channing would have no debt upon it to start with. This announcement was greeted with applause.

The Rev. Mr. Schermerhorn then read a list of the articles placed under the corner stone as follows:

Copies of the books on Dr. Channing by Rev. Mr. Brooks and Miss Elizabeth Peabody, a copy of Rev. Dr. Bellows's discourse a copy of Rev. Mr. Brooks's poem, names of the forty original corporators of the church, only four of whom are living, an account of the first meeting of the society, paper containing the names of five hundred and sixty-eight individuals who had subscribed towards the Channing Church, copies of the Newport Mercury, Newport News, Newport Journal, Providence Journal, Christian Register, Hartford Times, some rare old coins left by one of the corporators in his will to be used for this purpose, a new silver dollar of 1880, presented by Joseph J. Read, and a Bible, presented by Mr. John T. Bush. The mason, Mr. W. H. Fludder and the architect, Mr. Boyden, then placed the stone in position. When the box had been placed in the stone, Mr. W. F. Channing, of Providence, the only son of him whose memory was being honored, lovingly placed a bunch of roses on the top. The nephew and orator of the occasion, Rev. W. H. Channing, then with uplifted eyes and standing with reverence upon the corner stone which bore the inspiring inscription, "We build in Faith, Hope, Charity," declared in sacred words that the stone was "fairly and squarely laid" and that it was founded upon the rock Christ Jesus. The invocation by the reverend gentleman was as eloquent as it was touching and despite the chilly, wintry blasts, many eyes were moistened at the noble words uttered by the man of God who had crossed the stormy Atlantic to do honor to his sainted relative.

The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. R. R. Shippen, secretary of the American Unitarian Association of Boston. The crowd then proceeded to the Opera House and in an incredibly short time filled that edifice so that standing room was at a discount. There were were no formalities. The Rev. C. T. Brooks preceded his poem which is as follows, with the reading of this letter from George Gibbs Channing, brother of the deceased:

"I long to be in Newport on this sacred anniversary, but my great age of ninety years, prevents me from being present in the body.

"I send to the survivors of my early friends and fellow townsmen, and, to their children, my heartfelt benediction."

MILTON, Mass., April 7th, 1880.

ODE

AT THE LAYING OF THE CORNER STONE OF THE CHANNING MEMORIAL CHURCH,

In Newport, Rhode Island, April 7, 1880.

Auspicious day!
What throngs from far and near,
With grateful heart, on memory's altar, here,
Love's offering lay!

Thy voiceful morn
Calls back long vanished days,
And opens to the soul's prophetic gaze
Ages unborn.

This day shall be,
While years and ages run,
And Truth's bright torch is passed from sire to son,
A way-mark of the free.

A hundred years,
By thought evoked, return;
And the long-buried past, from Memory's urn,
Transfigured, re-appears.

With reverent feet
We climb the historic hill,
All else how changed!—yet earth, sky, ocean still
Our vision greet.

In these fair skies,
Illumined by a spirit's glow,
The forms of them whose relics sleep below
In glory rise.

On this green slope,
They, musing, stood, and to the skies
In many a holy hour, upraised their eyes
In yearning hope.

On this fair hill
"For Christ and Peace" they built in faith sublime;
In Christ and Peace, far from the storms of time,
Their souls live still.

In Heaven's pure height,
Those noble men—the reverent, brave and free—
Still young for Virtue, Truth and Liberty—
Walk in God's light.

Pure as the sky,
Unfettered as the wind and wave,
They live in Him to whom their lives they gave—
Their King on high.

Amidst that band
One form, with meek, yet manly mien,
I see, majestic and serene,
In saintly beauty stand.

To Heaven's broad light
His infant vision opened here,
And with a deeper rapture, year by year,
He hailed the radiant sight.

His eye could see
In earth's and heaven's expanse,
His heart could feel, in Nature's kindling glance,
The Father of the free.

How did his heart rejoice,
"In solitude, when man is least alone,"
To feel Christ's word attuned to unison
With Nature's voice!

Henceforth his thought
No chain of sect or school could bar or bind;
Belittling creeds, before his freeborn mind,
Shrank into naught.

His God was Love;
His creed the Master's footsteps to pursue;
His the warm heart—the clear-eyed vision, too—
John's eagle and Christ's dove.

So lived and taught
The sainted man—the upright, true and free—
Whom we today remember tenderly
With reverent thought.

And in the Trust
In which he lived and died—
In which forevermore abide
The spirits of the just,—

And to the Truth
For which he lived and wrought,
And whence his heavenward-yearning spirit caught
The quenchless fire of youth,—

This corner stone
In Faith, Hope, Love, we lay,
And for Christ's peace and God's pure blessing pray
To rest thereon.

Rise, hallowed walls!
Look forth o'er land and sea,
And welcome all to Peace and Liberty
Whom Christ's free spirit calls!

From thy rock-base,—
Laid by Almighty Power,—
Lift high thy well-knit frame, majestic tower,
In strength and grace!

While on thy spire
The morning sunbeams play,—
And linger there the smiles of dying day
With cheerful fire,—

Men's thoughts shall climb,
As by a heavenward-pointing finger led,
To that bright realm where dwell the immortal dead
In peace sublime.

There 'mid the band
Of blessed ones who have, through death, gone in
To the Lord's joy, made strong by Him to win
The immortal land,—

Channing shines now
In glory far above all earthly fame,
With that ineffable and holy Name,
Writ on his brow;

That name which none
Can read but they who, through the holy strife
Of truth and patient faith, a place have won
In the Lamb's Book of Life.

The address by Rev. Mr. Channing was an eloquent tribute to his memory and was listened to with great interest. Appended is a brief extract:

"The living temple of God indwelling with man, know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the spirit of God dwelleth in you. The temple of God is holy, which temple ye are." This morning as the sunrise was brightening to full noon in the presence of the all-good, all-wise, all-beneficient, all-beautiful, all-blessed, all-holy, all-perfect Father, we beheld the light of life as it transfigured Channing, reflected from the crystal mirror of our dear friend and brother, Henry W. Bellows. It was a glorious outshining, bright with the promise of a new day for transfigured humanity. Now in this dear place of heavenly communion so often consecrated by Dr. Channing's presence, amidst his townfolks, his fellow countrymen, his co-believers in fellowship with the Father and the Son, and the great cloud of witnesses, the family whose illustrious head he was in his own generation have, through his one surviving venerable brother commissioned me, as the son of the oldest son of our kindred, to render back our grateful offering of love; and how shall this office of thanksgiving be best fulfilled? Not by illustrating the beauty of Channing's personal character and life, for no man could care less than he for his individual claims. But by setting forth in solar splendor, if it may be, the grand central principles whereon, as firm corner stones, the glorious temple of his gospel and his influence was reared. Upon an immoveable rock foundation, then, let us plant this corner stone and upbuild the gleaming walls and open the welcome portals, and spread the spotless pavement, and round the shining dome, and hallow the pure white, flower crowned altar of Channing's living temple. When the ancients wished to symbolize a perfect life they embodied their ideal in a four-square man, meaning thereby a person in whom were duly proportioned his balanced natural virtues of justice, wisdom, fortitude and temperance. These heroic gifts were the corner stones and on these immovable bases the Christian fathers were wont to build the four theological virtues of faith, hope, charity and holiness. In the spirit of these seers and saints, let us get the four square corner stones of rectitude upon the laws of eternal truth, and rear upon them the radiant walls of Channing's spiritual graces for the Father's house of many mansions, wherein even while on earth he beheld the beatific vision of the All Holy One, and amid the company of angels worshipped the all loving Father, face to face, with filial awe, trust, willingness and joy.

Mr. Channing then proceeded to describe at length the central principles of his illustrious uncle's living temple of the real Christ life, of the real Immanuel of God, dwelling with his family on earth in outline as follows:

First—The first corner stone is confidence in the infinite love of the good Father of all Good.

Second—The second corner stone is the filial reverence of every child of God for the wise laws of life of the All True.

Third—The third corner stone is the fraternal sympathy and synergy which bind in one the whole family of the children of God on earth and in heaven.

Fourth—The fourth corner stone is the beneficence which unites the reconciled race of man universal around our globe, in the free-will co-operation of mutual service and interfluent good will and joy.

Such are the four square foundations of the divine tabernacle in mankind, and upon these foundations rest the four walls of upright, reconciled humanity as follows:

First—Harmonious equity, or all human relations co-ordinated according to the laws of heavenly order.

Second—Brotherly kindness, or the dignity of reciprocated ministers of majestic mercy in every family and community.

Third—Heavenly humanity, or perfectly organized societies imaging on earth the blessed communities of angels in heaven.

Fourth—Artistic refinement and culture on our planet, redeemed, healed, purified and glorified by concerted industry, interchange and gracious benefaction to a paradise regained.

Mr. Channing next passed on to a pictured representation of the interior glory of the living temple filled with all the fulness of God from the portal of humility and the pavement of faithful duties to the altars of purity, self-sacrifice and aspirations, and the dome of heavenly peace, all aglow with the influent radiance of perennial inspirations.

He closed with a recitation of the exquisitely beautiful sonnet of Oliver Wendell Holmes, so widely known throughout our nation:

"Build Thee more stately mansions—O my soul!"
As the swift seasons roll,
Leave thy low vaulted past,
Let each new temple nobler than the last,
Lift thee towards heaven with a dome more vast,
Till thou at length art free,
Leaving thine outgrown shell by life's unresting sea.

The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Mr. Hosmer, of Boston, after which the house was cleared and the excursionists wended their way to the boats and trains. A large number, however, remained to attend the evening service.

EVENING SERVICE.

The evening exercises at the Opera House were of a very interesting character. As was to be expected the house was packed, and as at all the other services of the day the platform was filled with the distinguished visitors. His Excellency Gov. Van Zandt and Mayor Burdick were among the guests.

After singing by the choir, devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. Mr. Humphreys of Framingham, Mass., and the Rev. Mr. Shippen of Boston. A solo, "Nearer My God to Thee," was repeated, by request, by Mr. Littlefield who contributed so much to the memories of the day. Mr. Schermerhorn then announced that a large number of letters had been received but out of the number he would have time to read only a few. Those selected and read were sent by the late William Lloyd Garrison, John G. Whittier, Henry W. Longfellow, E. G. Robinson, president of Brown University, Bishop Clark of Rhode Island, Bishop Huntington of Syracuse, N. Y., George W. Curtis, editor of Harper's Weekly, Mrs. Mary Livermore, Rev. Phillips Brooks, Prof. R. D. Hitchcock, President of the Union Theological Seminary, of New York, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Dean Stanley and James Martineau. Among the letters received and not read were those from Dr. C. A. Bartol, Henry P. Kidder, Rev. Dr. J. W. Thompson, Oliver Wendell Holmes, of Boston, Prof. Charles W. Eliot, President of Harvard College, Prof. Thomas Hill, ex-president of Harvard, and Dr. A. P. Peabody and Dr. F. H. Hedge also of Harvard College, Rev. Dr. W. H. Furness, of Philadelphia, and Prof. J. L. Diman, of Brown University.

The hymn by Holmes, "Lord of all life, below, above," was beautifully sung by the choir, after which His Excellency, Gov. Van Zandt, was introduced as chairman. The Governor said he was glad to honor with those present the memory of one of Rhode Island's purest and best sons. He (Channing) had the blood of a signer of the Declaration in his veins and in speaking of the signers of that famous compact, said they laid the corner stone of the state of Rhode Island. As Roger Williams planted, so we have reaped and the state had never borne better fruitage than was represented in the Opera House, all sects and creeds being present to honor the memory of one man who was so good, so pure, so lovely, and whom he compared to Berkeley and Hopkins and in conclusion he beautifully referred to the new church and the hallowed memories with which it would be associated. His Excellency was honored with hearty applause and it was the general opinion that a more eloquent tribute had not been paid Channing than was paid him upon this occasion by Rhode Island's honored Governor.

Ralph Waldo Emerson's hymn, "Here holy thoughts and light have shed," was rendered by the choir.

Rev. Dr. Hosmer was the next speaker, and he, too, spoke eloquently and to the point. Mrs. Charles Lowe of Boston read an original poem entitled, "The Perfect Life." Rev. Edward Everett Hale paid an eloquent tribute, in which he gave reasons for Dr. Channing's success, and referred to the efforts made to belittle his influence. He considered it a blessing that Dr. Channing had been born in Rhode Island. Mr. Littlefield then sang another solo. Mrs. Julia Ward Howe made a brief address, and read an original poem, entitled "I come today a church to build." She said, from the vast audience present, coupled with the noble sentiments she had heard today, a new foundation for the church would come. This lady was followed by A. Bronson Alcott, who referred to his acquaintance with Dr. Channing, and of the transformation in religion which had been made by his deceased friend. The speaker referred to his visits to the West, and of the universal respect which was shown Dr. Channing's life and works in that section of the country. After another hymn written by Bryant, an address was made by Miss Elizabeth Peabody, author of the recent work on Channing, who gave some very interesting reminiscences of her acquaintance with Dr. Channing. Rev. Mr. Folsom, of Cambridge, followed, and made a stirring address, after which Mr. Littlefield sang another solo. The closing address was made by Rev. Mr. Barnard of Marshfield, Mass., formerly of Warren Chapel, Boston. The evening exercises lasted until 11 o'clock, and were brought to a happy termination by Rev. Mr. Barnard bequeathing, after his death, an elegant oil painting of Dr. Channing to the Channing Memorial Church, on condition that a similar one of Channing's mother be secured and hung alongside of it, in the vestry or parsonage of the church.

The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Mr. Schermerhorn after the choir had sung one verse of an appropriate selection. It was nearly 11 o'clock before the exercises were over, but the audience were patient and took great interest in the proceedings.

GLEANINGS AND GOSSIP.

About seventy men, women and children left Boston Tuesday evening to establish new homes in Leadville, Col.

One thousand tons of Scotch champion potato seed have been ordered by the Duchess of Marlborough's Irish Famine Fund. The amount is equal to 13,000 sacks full.

The entire Boston mail of 5,000 letters, through the accident on the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, was thrown into a swamp Tuesday morning and saturated with oil and water. It was forwarded from New Haven to New York Tuesday afternoon, dried in the postoffice and distributed at a late hour.

At a recent leap year party a young man who was slowly convalescing from a stroke of paralysis and could move about only with the assistance of crutches, received and accepted an invitation to be present. The young ladies filled his "order of dances" with their names, each one sitting with him through the dance she had selected.

GRATEFUL WOMEN.

None receive so much benefit, and none are so profoundly grateful and show such an interest in recommending Hop Bitters as women. It is the only remedy peculiarly adapted to the many ills the sex is almost universally subject to. Chills and fever, indigestion or deranged liver, constant or periodical sick headaches, weakness in the back or kidneys, pain in the shoulders and different parts of the body, a feeling of lassitude and despondency, are all readily removed by these Bitters.—[Courant.

CASWELL, MASSEY & CO.

offer this preparation of Cod Liver Oil to the profession, in the confident hope that it will supply a pleasant and efficient medium of administering that invaluable remedy.

It is unnecessary at this date to refer to the very high character which has been borne by the "Caswell Cod Liver Oil" since its first introduction; it is sufficient to state that this oil is used in this new preparation.

The proportion of oil held in the emulsion is fifty per cent.; the finest Turkey Gum Arabic and the purest White Sugar are the other ingredients employed in its manufacture.

The addition of Pepsine and Quinine is made with the view of enabling the most delicate stomach to retain and digest the oil.

Proposals.

THE CITY OF NEWPORT.

Proposals for Collection and Removal of Swill and House Offal.

IN ACCORDANCE WITH AN ORDER OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH, sealed proposals will be received by the City Clerk until Monday, April 12, 1880, at 5 o'clock P. M., for collecting and removing Swill and House Offal in this city, for the remainder of the present calendar year.

The contractors will be required to collect, and remove outside of the limits of the compact part of the city, the swill and house offal from every house in the city, three times a week during April, November and December, and four times a week during May, June, July, August, September and October, and oftener if required, or it be necessary to prevent nuisance and decomposition; the collection must be made in air tight tubs carried in proper carts or vehicles by one or more horses or mules; every cart, with the tubs also, must be kept clean and well painted, the carts licensed, numbered and plainly lettered "City Swill Cart" and the tubs must be kept tightly closed while being drawn through the city.

The contractors will be required also to call in person at the Police Station, or to send some one authorized to act for them, between 9 o'clock and 11 o'clock A. M., on the days named for collecting and removing such swill and offal, to receive and attend promptly to any complaints of neglect or otherwise, which may be made; they will also be required not to allow any nuisance or annoyance to be caused to any inhabitant in consequence of depositing any swill or offal in any place outside of the limits of the compact part of the city, and not to keep any swine within one quarter of a mile from said limits as defined by ordinance.

Bidders are requested to propose for the whole city, also for the 1st, 2d and 3d wards together, and for the 4th and 5th wards together; all proposals to be marked "Proposals for Collecting and Removing Swill and House Offal"; the right to reject any or all is reserved, also the right to award the contract in whole or portions, or to one, or more persons.

By direction of the Board of Health.
WILLIAM G. STEVENS,
City Clerk.

Newport Laundry
—AND—
STEAM CARPET BEATING
ESTABLISHMENT!
Cor. Warner Street and Pond Avenue.

In connection with the Newport Laundry, we have put up a patent

STEAM CARPET BEATING MACHINE,

by which the carpets are beaten on the back and brushed on the face. The dust and dirt, as fast as beaten out of the fabric are removed from the compartment where the carpets are beaten, by an exhaust fan, which also removes and carries out of the room any moth or other larva, which may be beaten out of the carpet with the dirt and dust, so that there is no possibility of their settling back on the carpet.

Prices for Beating Carpets:

Ingrain and Three Ply..............	5 cents per yard
Brussels and Tapestry..............	4 cents per yard
Velvet and Wilton..............	6 cents per yard

A special price will be made to parties having 100 yards or more done at one time.

As the machine is under cover, carpets can be beaten in stormy, as well as in pleasant weather.

English and rag carpets will be washed for six cents per square yard.

Manilla, hemp and rope carpets thoroughly cleaned for from 6 to 12 cents per yard.

Orders may be sent by mail, directed to the Newport Laundry, given to the driver of the Laundry Wagon, or may be left with J. D. Richardson, 212 Thames street, agent for Newport Laundry.

Carpets called for and returned free of charge for cartage. GEO. P. LEONARD, m29 Proprietor.

SUNDRIES.

An ethereal maiden called Maud
Was suspected of being a fraud;
Scarce a crumb was she able
To eat at the table
But in the back pantry—O Lawd!

The baldheaded man is the hero of many a lockout.

The oyster is looking forward toward his summer vacation.—[Boston Transcript.

A negro, after gazing at some Chinese, shook his head and solemnly said: "If de white folks be so dark as dat out dar I wonder what's de color of de black folks?"

"Oh—a—James. You can take the dog out for a walk." "If you please, ma'am, the dog wont follow me!" "Then you must follow the dog, James!"—[London Punch.

As it will soon be time to ask, "What are the wild waves saying?" we take this early opportunity to candidly confess that we do not know.—[Philadelphia Chronicle Herald.

"Suppose," said Napoleon to Las Casas, "that the blocks came 13, 15, 11, in your box, what would you do?" "Lift out the 15, sire, and put it after the 14." "But would that be a solution of the puzzle?" "They all do it in that way, sire," replied Las Casas.—[Puck.

"These goods are cut bias, lady," said the salesgentleman. "Are they, indeed!" she exclaimed. "I didn't know you manufactured garments." "No more we don't, lady." "Then, why do you say 'they are cut by us,' young man?" The look of bewilderment that overcame the face of that young person was most pathetic.

A little boy, four years old, having often been told it was wrong to ask for anything at table, was down at dessert. After patiently waiting for sometime without being noticed he exclaimed, "Mamma, please may I have an orange if I don't ask for it?" "Yes, dear," was the reply. But, after a considerable interval, the little fellow, not getting his orange, again addressed his mother with, "Please, mamma, I'm not asking for an orange." This time he was duly rewarded.

DISCOVERY OF GOLD.

General Sutter, on whose land gold was first discovered in California, is now a citizen of Pennsylvania, and resides at Lititz, Lancaster county. At the time California was ceded to the United States he was the owner of an immense tract of land on the Sacramento river, which he had acquired under a grant from the Mexican Government. He supposed that his title was valid under the terms of the treaty with Mexico. One of his hired men, while assisting in digging a mill-race, picked up a handful of yellow sand which turned out to be gold. This was the first discovery of the precious metal in California. Miners swarmed over Captain Sutter's estate, took possession of his lands, and parcelled them out into "diggings," without the least regard to his rights in the premises. He never was able to dispossess these squatters, owing to technical defects in his title, and after spending all he was worth in trying to recover his property, he gave up the contest and appealed to Congress for some compensation for his loss. The House Committee on Claims has agreed to report a bill appropriating $50,000 to pay him for property taken from him under color of authority from the United States.

STOMACH
BITTERS

Fever and Ague.
The true antidote to the effects of miasma is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This medicine is one of the most popular remedies of an age of successful proprietary specifics, and is in immense demand wherever on this Continent fever and ague exists. A wineglassful three times a day is the best possible preparative for encountering a malarious atmosphere, regulating the liver, and invigorating the stomach.

A Word with Advertisers!

Advertisers would do well to bear in mind the fact that the

NEWPORT JOURNAL

REACHES AN

ENTIRELY DISTINCT CLASS OF READERS

than those of the DAILY NEWS. The Weekly is made up from the columns of the Daily, and as the reading matter is the same in the two papers they have an entirely distinct patronage. An advertisement inserted in the News and in any other weekly is liable to simply reach the same family through two sources, but if in the News and Journal this can seldom or never be the case. The Journal circulates, only, where the News has not gone before it, and hence carries the announcements of its patrons into a new and entirely distinct class of the community. This fact is an important one to be considered by all business men who wish to reach the whole public.

The patrons of the News are charged but a

SMALL ADDITIONAL PRICE

FOR THIS

EXTRA & DISTINCT CIRCULATION,

much less than would be necessary if the two papers were issued from different offices. The marked increase in the circulation of the Journal, and this advantage of low prices, makes it a favorable medium for reaching the people, especially in the country towns of southern Rhode Island. We invite all our yearly advertisers and others to consider these points and to bear in mind also the further fact that during the winter season the Journal goes to a large proportion of our summer residents at their several homes. When here during the season these take the Daily News and as they leave in autumn they very generally change to the weekly that they may keep themselves informed of events in Newport during their absence. An advertisement inserted in the Journal at this time of the year will reach this class of our summer people before their arrival in Newport.

PUT YOUR HOUSES IN ORDER!
Which you can do very cheaply, by sending your orders for all kinds of Painting, Graining,
KALSOMINING,
in fact, all work required to put the house in order for use at one, from cellar to attic, and at fair prices, as we are working very low this spring. It will pay to get prices from this establishment before closing your contracts for PAINTING, &c.,
As we will WARRANT to do as good work and furnish as good stock as can be done in this or any other city.
I also paint and varnish carriages, from a wheelbarrow or baby carriage, to the largest coach, and use the best of varnishes on the best of jobs, and will use the poorest varnish on the cheapest jobs.
I keep in stock several kinds of varnish to sell by the measure. Have all grades of Valentine's varnish, in one gallon cans, which will be sold at small advance from cost. This varnish is used altogether by Brewster of New York, and other first class carriage makers. Have on hand, about
ONE HUNDRED
CARRIAGES!
Both old and new, which I will sell at a very low price, quality considered. Don't go out of town to purchase a carriage, when you can buy one here, and if it does not prove as recommended you will have the privilege of calling upon me in person and asking What, never? Well, HARDLY EVER!
